SanLu Art Business Revitalized

PHOENIX -- SanLu is one step closer to becoming a revitalized as a premier e-commerce Internet art gallery specializing in unique works-of-art. The new SanLu e-commerce art gallery will have a wide variety of works-of-art for viewing and also to purchase.

SanLu was originated back in 1991 and became a part of Hoopes in 1992. The business first started by producing handmade jewelry and then in 1996 began to reproduce various paintings from select artists into t-shirts for wholesale distribution. SanLu also opened a gallery in Nashville, Tennessee back in 1997. SanLu became dormant in 1998 and is only now being revived as a new and viable business entity in the ever-increasing popular world of the Internet.

"Hoopes Companies has always recognized the potential of the art world and the unique abilities of the artist's that have been represented by SanLu, both in the past and present," said DeWitt P. Hoopes, president of Hoopes Companies. "The new SanLu e-commerce art gallery will soon be recognized for quality and uniqueness and it is our intention to add more quality artist's to the new site later in 2000."

The site is slated to be up and running by March 2000 and can be viewed by going to www.sanlu.cc
