Beatrice Technologies Launches First-Ever Conservative Social Media Platform

PHOENIX -- Right Social, Inc. (www.rightsocial.net), a new business unit of Beatrice Technologies, Inc. (BTI), officially launched to a global audience. Dedicated to a politically conservative audience, www.RightSocial.net is a social network platform that is here to help combat the oligarchy social media conglomerates that have dominance, and give conservatives a voice that they will not have to worry about being silenced. It should be noted that not only in the America, but around the world conservative censorship has been steadily silenced, all based on "algorithms", or arbitrary "policies".

WHAT IT IS: Conservative Social Media for persons, businesses, religious organizations or conservative politicians.

WHAT GOAL IS: To create a safe and uncensored social media site that conservatives can share thoughts and ideas.

WHY DOING IT: The oligarchy tech companies have unilaterally and arbitrarily taken it upon themselves to censor thoughts and ideas they deem violate their policy statements.

DeWitt Hoopes, President & CEO of Beatrice Companies, Inc. said, "What precipitated the need for a dedicated platform for the political conservatives is what is happening around our nation, and even in Europe, with overt censorship. Though the social media and tech companies will never admit to it, they do in fact bias against conservatives. Mr. Hoopes went on to say that only just recently, Elizabeth Heng, who is running for California's 16th congressional district had her social media account blocked, from one of the incumbent tech firms, only because she had dared to make a campaign video about her parents escape from Khmer Rouge communist Cambodia.

In Sweden, the Sweden Democrat (Sverigedemokraterna), who are conservative right political party had a video of theirs banned, only because they had the audacity to show a historical video showing how the current ruling party, the Swedish Social Democrats, colluded with the Nazis during World War II. The most popular video service that people know of, stripped the videos from their site, because it violated their "Community Guidelines".

Unlike Bolshevik Russia, or Nazi Germany, where the media was totally controlled by the government, in our Western democratic nations, we should have learned from those harsh lessons of censorship, but sadly, our educational system is not teaching what the harsh realities of an all encompassing censorship can lead to. The only difference now is that the oligarchy tech giants are self censoring, which can lead to a slippery slope to them censoring others if they feel like it.

Codex Justinianus (The Code of Justinian), and Athenian democracy is what we have as roots for a free and open society, along with our Constitution and Bill of Rights. If those that do not understand the basics of this, and trample on them because they feel they have the moral high ground and the loudest voice, all will be lost, and we as a society will fall as ancient Rome did in 476, and Europe never recovered from that until the Renaissance in the 13th-century.'
